The Democracy of Richmond met in the African Church on Friday night at 8 o'clock, pursuant to adjournment.

ad the meeting to order. He stated, that by the instructions given him at the meeting held at Corinthian Hall, he had appointed one hundred delgates to the Convention to be brid in Patersburg, with the aid of friends bitter acquainted with the party than himself, at d would submit his selection to this meeting for its approval or rejection.

After the list of names had been read and approved of, Mr. G.azebrook made a motion which was adopted, that the names of the President of the meeting, Mr. P. H. Aylett, and that of the Secretary, Mr. Marcellus Sarke, he added to the list.

Mr Daniel II London then moved that the list of delegates be confirmed. Mr. Jesse R ach protested against the confirmation, as-Democrats. This caused some laughter, afer which the confirmation was carried by ac-

Mr. Wm. M. Harrison moved an adjournment, as the meeting had accomplished the ofject for which it was called, vis: the appoloiment of delegates to the Petersburg Con-

Mr. Pryor desired to know if the democraof were prepared to adjourn befere accomdisting the work bef re it. The Chairman reminded the gentleman that the question was not debatable, and then put the motion, which was lost. Loud and repeated calls were made for

Mr. Pryor took the stand, amid loud and repeated applause, and after a brief and well received address, offered the following resolution as a substitute.

"Resolved, That John Letcher is every way worthy of the confidence of the Virginia Democracy, and that in the event of his nomipation, se, the Democrats of Richmond. pledge ourselves to support him without reme or disaffection."

O Jennings Wise, Esq., was next called to the stand, and after reading Mr. Pryor's resolation, declared that while he was ready to adopt the latter part of the resolution, he was pet prepared to say that John Letcher was entirely worthy of the confidence of the Virginis democracy. He regretted that the compromise resolution did not meet with his individual and entire approval. If Mr. Letcher gets the nomination, I will support him without reserve and without disputation -and urge such arguments as I can do in his the South, and was not the man for a popular dem cravis leuder. Mr. Wise, did not believe Mr. Letcher capable, if elected Governor of committing any act that would disgrace the office to which he had been raised. Mr. W. then reviewed, at length, Mr. Letchers political course, and was listened to with marked attention.

B. R. Welford, esq., next took the stand. and advocated the claims of Mr. Letcher, as well as the resolution of Mr. Pryor.

Mr. Pryor followed in defence of Mr. Letcher, and argued at length to prove that he had been loyal to the South, to Virginia, sed to the Union.

N. Tyler, eeq., one of the editors of the Equirer, followed Mr. Pryor, and took occasin to show that John Letcher had supported er Gov. Wm. Smith when he was arraigned by the paray. Mr. Pryor moved the previous question.

which being sustained, Mr. Scott accepted the resolution as a substitute, and it beit g put to vote, was carried in the affirmative. Mr. Pryor moved three cheers for John Letch r, the next Governor of Virginia which was carried.

Mr. Wise then moved three groans for Letcher, which were also given. The meeting then adjourned -Rich. Disp.

The Richmond Enquirer has received the nost direct and authentic assurances, that Mr. Clemens is no longer in danger and that his entire recovery is placed beyond doubt.

The Richmond correspondent of the Pekrsburg Express under date of the 19th are I have just heard that Mr. O. J. Wise was arrested to-day about 12 o'clock, taken before the Mayor, and bound over to keep the peace. I could not ascertain the penalty of the bond. I hear also, that the police are now looking for Mr. Charles Irving.

A STRANGER ROBBED -About three o'clock yesterday afternoon a stranger in Baltimore, bailing from Fauquier county, Va., whilst strolling through the city stopped at a house of ill-repute on Holliday street, where he made the acquaintance of two frail fair ones, named Rosa Jones and Ida Miller .--He had, however, remained in their company but a short time when he noticed that Ida dropped a pocket handkerchief very like his own, and a look disclosed the fact that it was really his. He then thought his pocket book containing $170 in cash, and promissory notes and other papers to the value of $3 000 might be in danger and he would make that secure. But a search through his pockets told him that he was too late. It had disappeared, nor could be find it. He first used persuasive means to the females to restore it. but that not producing the desired effect, he threatened to call the attention of the keeper of the house, Mary Whire; but she was non est, at least to him. He remained in the bouse until nearly seven o'clock, using every effort to get his money and papers, but without avail, and he then made complaint of his $5.20@$5.50.
